The Nation's Future: Making the Future of Business a Tomorrow's Business The Nation's Future: Making the Future of Business a Tomorrow's Business is a 2004 book by economist Benjamin M. Barber. Barber, in a quest for a new kind of economic thinking, argues that the "Age of Permanent Growth" is over, and that there must be a transition to something else. The book's title comes from a statement by Paul Ormerod, an editor of The Economist. It serves as a counterweight to Michael E. Porter's Competitive Strategy: Techniques for Analyzing Industries (1980), an analysis of how businesses compete and what they can learn from each other's success. Reviews Book review Barber's argument is that the growth imperative of present-day business thinking is not sustainable, and that as a result the logic of permanent growth will be a thing of the past. For Barber the great risk of the present day is loss of continuity, as resources are redirected to growth and away from those activities which actually keep the world economy functioning. An example is the potential of optical fibre, which may be coming in two years, and then in 20 years' time is already marginal. The book cites a wide range of examples of the mistakes of the past, including the massive increase in the scale of manufacturing after the Second World War. Download VSTi FOR WINDOWS AND MAC.Q: How to run commands in custom docker image of elastic beanstalk I have created an image which needs to run before deploy. My Procfile: #Procfile web: vendor/bin/php-fpm -f -c php-fpm.conf Since the image doesn't have any program running. Thus I can't run Procfile commands like: $ docker-compose up Could not create listener port 10.244.183.113:80: Post listen tcp 0.0.0.0:80: bind: address already in use $ docker-compose logs elasticbeanstalk.com WARNING: Create process failed since the docker container is already dead. So, I have to run a custom script, which would set up the elasticbeanstalk config files and run elasticbeanstalk command by seperately. How do I specify that script to run in my docker image? A: You want to run a script instead of a command? Then you want docker-entrypoint-initdb.d. docker-entrypoint-initdb.d is a directory of docker-init script files. These files may be sourced with docker-entrypoint.sh, and are run in alphabetical order before the 3da54e8ca3
